QUANTUM GO REFRESH FOR DXi T-SERIES

Subscription service for comprehensive data protection and cyber resilience including hardware refresh eliminating end-of-life concerns

SOLUTION BRIEF

Future-Proof Data Protection and Resilience

Quantum GO Refresh™ for DXi® T-Series is a pay-as-you-go, turnkey subscription service that forever eliminates upfront and ongoing capital costs. By including hardware refreshes in the subscription, it simplifies deployment, and makes all-flash, enterprise-grade data protection accessible to businesses of all sizes.

Cyber threats are evolving fast, putting IT managers under constant pressure to strengthen cyber resilience. Ransomware, AI-driven attacks, and software vulnerabilities are expanding the attack surface, while compliance demands and talent shortages make risk management even tougher. Quantum GO Refresh for DXi T-Series helps address IT managers' urgent need to harden the resilience of their data protection environment against threats, improve overall preparedness, and accelerate data recovery performance.

Large Capital Outlays Are Gone Forever

With Quantum GO Refresh, DXi T-Series hardware systems, software, support and ongoing hardware refreshes are bundled into one comprehensive subscription with quarterly or annual payment terms. Plus, other services, like installation, data migration, and full solution management can be added for a simple "everything included" subscription-based service.

Faster, More Resilient All-Flash Backup

The DXi T-Series family of all-flash backup appliances are compact, easy to order, and provide fast, effective data protection and recovery for core infrastructure, edge deployments, and mission-critical database environments. Scaling from 15 to 120 usable terabytes in a powerful 1U form factor, the DXi T-Series family accelerates your ability to prepare, prevent, and recover quickly from ransomware attacks and other data risks.

Quantum GO Refresh enables on-prem, pay-as-you-go solutions built for high-speed recovery from immutable backups stored on local all-flash DXi T-Series systems. Deployable across multiple sites, DXi's all-inclusive software includes built-in features to securely and efficiently replicate data across sites and archive backups to private and public storage clouds for long-term retention.

Achieve cyber resilience simplicity, immutability, and fast recovery. Quantum GO Refresh for DXi T-Series makes it easier than ever.
