MAKING MORE HISTORY: Reigning US Open champion and World No. 2 Novak Djokovic is playing in his first event since completing career Golden Slam by winning the gold medal at Paris Olympics. Now the 37-year-old, who last year became the oldest US Open men's singles champion in Open Era, is currently tied with Margaret Court for most Grand Slam titles of all-time and will attempt to break the tie and become the first player to capture 25 Grand Slam singles titles.

CHASING 100: Djokovic would tie Connors, Federer and Sampras for most men's US Open titles in Open Era and become the first player to successfully defend men's singles title at US Open since Federer in 2007-08. Since the start of 2011 season Djokovic won at least one Grand Slam title in 12 of 13 previous seasons (missing 2017), looking for first Grand Slam title of the season. By lifting the US Open trophy for the fifth time, he would become the 3rd man in Open Era to win 100 tour-level titles in his career.

TRIPLE CROWN: Alcaraz enters the event on a 14-match winning streak in Grand Slam events after capturing the titles at Roland Garros and Wimbledon this season. The 21-year-old now looks to become the seventh man in Open Era to win 3 Grand Slam titles in one season and the third man in Open Era to win the Roland Garros, Wimbledon and US Open triple in the same season after Rod Laver in 1969 and Rafael Nadal in 2010. The World No. 3 owns a 16-2 record at US Open, reaching at least the quarter-final stage in all three previous appearances (2021 QF, 2022 Title, 2023 SF).

21 YEARS SINCE...: Andy Roddick remains the last American man to lift the US Open title, which also remains America's most recent Grand Slam men's singles title. There are five American men ranked in Top 20 coming into the US Open for the first time since 1996 edition, including No. 20 Frances Tiafoe, who reached at least the fourth round in four previous appearances, highlighted by run to 2022 SF. He is joined by No. 13 Ben Shelton, who last year defeated Tiafoe in quarter-finals to become the youngest American man in US Open SF since Chang in 1992.

NEW MILESTONES: No. 1 American and No. 12 seed Taylor Fritz, who remains the only active American to capture an ATP Masters 1000 title at 2022 Indian Wells, is a 4-time Grand Slam quarter-finalist, including at US Open last year. No. 14 Tommy Paul, who reached 2023 Australian Open SF and Wimbledon QF in July this year, will be among the Americans with high hopes to become the first American man to reach Grand Slam final since 2009 Wimbledon and first in US Open final since 2006, both achieved by Roddick. No. 16 Sebastian Korda aims to reach the third round at the event for the first time. His father, Petr, reached the US Open quarter-finals in 1995 and 1997, before Sebastian was born in 2000.
